Warmed President Lincoln in Vain.

Bishop Thomas Bowman of East Orange, N. J., the oldest Methodist Episcopal bishop, said the other day that he warmed President Lincoln he was in danger of being assassinated by John Wilkes Booth five days before he was killed. The bishop was then chaplain of the senate. One day as he was about to open the senate with prayer he saw Booth enter the room and was so struck with his appearance that he could not proceed for several minutes. Later he saw Booth prowling about the capitol building and White House and, being convinced that his purpose was bad, warned Mr. Lincoln, who smiled and would not believe that any one would attempt his life.

Ecclesiastical Improvements.

The Baptists of Hill City, Kan., have recently erected a fine church. Above the belfry, however, is a large gift fish instead of a cross, emblematic of a Baptist's belief with a vengeance. We feel like exulting with the new departure, says the Sylvan Grove (Kan.) News. The first thing we know Presbyterians will be erecting canals above their churches.
